

Bi Puranen is Associate Professor in the History of Economics at the University of Stockholm. She is also Secretary General of the World Values Survey Association (WVSA) and Senior Research Fellow at the Institute for Future Studies in Sweden. Her research focuses on health, human security, tolerance and changing values. Puranen co-edited Religion, democratic values and political conflict”Acta Universitatis Upsaliensis (2009). Her most recent publications include “Willingness to Fight for One’s Country and the Importance of Democracy: European Values on Security and Defence ”(2008); “European Values on Security and Defence: an Exploration of the Correlates of Willingness to Fight for One’s Country”chapter 14 in Esmer, Klingemann & Puranen, “Religion, democratic values and political conflict,”Acta Universitatis Upsaliensis (2009), “The Transformation of Europe’s Armed Forces”(2010), “How Values Transform Military Culture: findings from a Longitudinal Values Study in the Military” (in Swedish) 2012, “Public Perceptions of Electoral Integrity - a comparison of 27 countries” with Vartanova, I., & Welander, N., Report to IDEA, 2013; “The Democratic Peace Theory Transformed: The Emerging Mass Basis of Global Peace”,(together with Ronald F. Inglehart & Christian Welzel), The World Values Survey Paper series, forthcoming 2014). “Changing attitudes towards national defence” Díez-Nicolás, J. & Puranen, B, The World Values Survey Paper series, forthcoming 2014; “Allegiance Eroding: People’s Dwindling Willingness to Fight in Wars”, in Dalton, R & Welzel, C.,(eds) in “The Civic Culture Transformed: from Allegiant to Assertive Citizens,” chapter 11, forthcoming 2014, accepted by Cambridge University Press.