

The Implicit Mind

Philosophical and Psychological Perspectives on Implicit Cognition

Fishy island by Erik Johansson, www.erikjohanssonphoto.com

Workshop on the 25th and the 26th of May 2015

Monday, May 25th

09:00–10:30	Edouard Machery, De-Freuding Implicit Attitudes
10:30–10:45	Break
10:45–12:15	Jules Holroyd, The Explanatory Significance of Implicit Biases
12:15–13:15	Lunch
13:15–14:45	Anandi Hattiangadi, Radical Interpretation and Implicit Cognition
14:45–15:00	Break
15:00–16:30	Eric Mandelbaum, Unconscious Logic and the Structure of Thought
16:30–17:00	Break
17:00–18:30	Susan Carey, Core Cognition of Number

Tuesday, May 26th

09:00–10:30	Tim Bayne, Implicit Cognition in the Vegetative State
10:30–10:45	Break
10:45–12:15	Petter Johansson, Choice Blindness and Implicit Cognition
12:15–13:15	Lunch
13:15–14:45	Maja Spener, Abilities and the Nature of Perception
14:45–15:00	Break
15:00–16:30	Kathrin Glüer, Experience, Alief and Belief
16:30–17:00	Break
17:00–18:30	Ned Block, Is There a Joint in Nature between Perception and Cognition?

Hosts: Anandi Hattiangadi and Åsa Wikforss, Professors in Philosophy at Stockholm University
Place: Institute for Futures Studies, Holländargatan 13 in Stockholm
Contact: Karim Jebari, karim.jebari@iffs.se

For more information and registration, visit www.iffs.se/en

The workshop is funded by Riksbankens Jubileumsfond.

Welcome!

 Institute for
FUTURES STUDIES